Role of CCI Győr in Support of SME's Research Activity

David Maasz, Member of Board

CORNET Partnering Event, 14/01/2010 Győr

European Commission
Enterprise and Industry

Enterprise Europe Network

The Network offers a whole host of services, among others:

- Developing the research and innovation capacities of SMEs by helping to create synergies with other research actors, foster technological cooperation and holding brokerage events.
- Helping SMEs to share research results, participate in research programs and apply for funding, particularly from the EU's Seventh Framework Programme for Research and Technological Development (FP7).

Enterprise Europe Network

Our plans for 2010:

- Taylor-made advice

FP7 tender watch service

- Database

offers and requests in field of R+D
SME Feedback Database

- Events

seminars workshops

- An international experts community for technology transfer and innovation support acting in the bordering regions of Austria, Czech Republic, Hungary and Slovakia.
- Supported by an 2 mil. EUR EU-project, 15 centrope_tt partner institutions are currently establishing tools for stimulation of cross-border technology transfer between enterprises and universities

- The 'centrope_tt map' provides online access to a databank with 2.200 R&D institutes in the CENTROPE region.
- The 'centrope_tt academy' offers information for institutes, companies and intermediaries about the funding system for R&D collaborations and gives information support for enterprises.
- With the help of the 'centrope_tt voucher' the project is supporting cooperation between transnational science to business. Financial support (up to 5000 EUR/project) has been made available for 55 such examples of transnational cooperation.

As finding partners for research projects is not always easy, National Office for Research and Technology (Hungary) is organising a partnering event on January 14, 2010 in Győr, Hungary. Invited are SMEs, associations, professional federations, clusters and trade organisations, as well as research performing organisations such as private or public research centres, universities and RTOs that are interested in submitting project proposals for the 9th CORNET call. "Newcomers" to CORNET are invited to get on-track information about proposal preparation and to exchange experiences with "old stagers". Networking is an explicit objective of the meeting. The partnering event is open for participants from all CORNET countries and regions, but mainly the neighbouring countries are encouraged to participate.

The partnering event will be held in English.
